
Committee Member

Dr. Main Alqudah holds Ph.D. in Islamic studies from American Open University and a Bachelor of Arts in Economics from Al-Azhar. In addition, he is an Associate Professor, and a member of the Resident Fatwa Committee of AMJA. Dr. Main is an experienced lecturer in Islamic Studies. In his teaching career, he has provided instruction and training to learners at schools as well as college level. He is a speaker at regional and national conferences.

Has spoke to large audiences about Islamic finance, interest-bearing transactions in the United States, Zakah rules for American Muslims, the recent financial crisis, and contemporary issues regarding the Muslim family at several regional and national conferences, and at masajid and Islamic Centers within the United States.

Read Full Bio

The purpose of the North American Conference on Islamic Finance (NACIF) is to foster the sharing of global knowledge. It is an international forum for Islamic finance scholars and practitioners to discuss and collaborate on the various innovative practices that are being used in the Islamic finance industry. Ultimately, the goal of NACIF is to facilitate sustainable finance practices that benefit society at all levels.

About
Speakers
Committees
Agenda
Accommodation
Registration
FAQ

P.O. Box 339
Barker, TX 77413-0339

Contact Information
(832) 517-2988
Email - nacif@guidancecollege.org