Finance at Lake Forest College. He earned his Ph.D. and M.B.A in Finance from Syracuse University and specializes in asset pricing, investments, portfolio theory, and behavioral finance. His research interests span the diffusion of information in financial markets, household spending, housing markets, economic asymmetries, consumer credit, and Islamic finance, with a focus on equity-based financial systems. Dr. Hadzic has published in journals such as Review of Financial Studies, Applied Economics, Journal of Real Estate Portfolio Management, and International Journal of Housing Markets and Analysis. His work explores the asymmetrical relationships between monetary policy, consumer sentiment, and housing markets, among other topics.

About NACIF

The purpose of the North American Conference on Islamic

Quick Links

Main Office

finance industry. Ultimately, the goal of NACIF is to facilitate sustainable finance practices that benefit society at all levels.

ege.org